DIARY NOTES

DD/S

[REDACTED] egh

30 March 1964

1. [REDACTED] telephoned to say that VEPCO was expected to go on strike tomorrow at midnight and that extra security precautions would be taken to protect our power plant.

2. [REDACTED] telephoned to say that the Director had noticed a large number of open windows in the building and had remarked that we would never get the air conditioning and heating system balanced if people did not stop this.

3. I talked to Mr. Kirkpatrick about the switchboard, "call directors," space, etc., for the Office of Special Activities. He advised me to hold up on these items in view of the uncertainty of the future of OSA. Later in the day I talked to [REDACTED] who agreed that there was considerable uncertainty but requested that we go ahead anyway. (I will have to go down to OSA and satisfy myself as to the necessity of these installations.)

4. [REDACTED] telephoned to invite me to a brief meeting in Dick Helms' office at 1630 hours on 1 April to say good-by to [REDACTED]. I accepted.

5. After talking with [REDACTED] I advised [REDACTED] of the Office of Central Reference that we would release Brad to him about 15 June. It was agreed that his tour of duty would be for a minimum of one year and a maximum of two years and that we would review the situation again on or about 1 April 1965.
